Class of works: I am writing in support of Class #1 (Copy-Protected CDs): Sound recordings released on compact disc ("CDs") that are protected by technological protection measures that malfunction so as to prevent access on certain playback devices.

Summary:

Disc name: Love Parade 2002 Compilation Love Parade, distributed by BMG, SKU is 74321-94784-2.

I would like an exemption for copy protected CDs, because the CD I purchased in Germany malfunctioned in my car's CD player because of the CDs copy protection features. I bought this CD when I was on a trip to Europe for the Love Parade (a festival in Germany). When I got home, I attempted to play it in the Sony CD player I have in my car. It made it through all of the tracks, except the last one. The last one caused the CD player to lock up, and the stereo to begin acting funny in general. I couldn't play any other CDs in the player, including non-copy-protected CDs. I eventually got the CD player to work again (don't ask how, I still don't know), but for a time I thought I was going to have to replace a $200 headunit for a $15 screw-up.
